Application for a Humboldt Research Fellowship in Germany for applicants from abroad

Alexander von Humboldt
Stiftung/Foundation

Please complete the form online. You can save data at any time and send the completed form online to the Humboldt Foundation.

For the time being, researchers from Brazil can only apply for a Capes-Humboldt Research Fellowship. Thus applications using this form can unfortunately not be processed.

We recommend researchers from developing and emerging countries whose research contributes to their countries' sustainable development to apply for a Georg Forster Research Fellowship, which is equivalent to a Humboldt Research Fellowship.

All application documents must be uploaded in German or English.

Please upload the additional documents that are required for your application here.Please note that we can only accept documents in PDF format without any write, read or print protection (maximum file size per document: 10 MB).

Key publications* Schulz_RSI_TrunkSuction.pdf Schulz_PNAS_Skin.pdf Schulz_2023_BaB.pdf	Summaries / Translations
Doctoral certificate* CF_GenerateDegreeVerification.pdf	German language certificate

In addition to this example there are examples of each of these documents uploaded. Key items to consider

1) CV should not include any publications on it and is limited to two pages,
2) Research Outline should be 5 pages including references
3) Complete list of publications is all publications, if there are any publications that are submitted, but not finalized you will be required to add the confirmation from the editor that it is in the editorial stage you think it is in. For those publications that are in Pre-Print do not include where it is submitted to.
4) Key publications - template included. This is three publications with descriptive text.
5) In addition to key publications descriptions you are requested to attach copies of each.
6) Summaries/Translations are not primarily for MPI-IS type of humboldts, this is more for if you have a German requirement for your humboldt there is a requirement that the publications/CVs/ etc. be translated into German
7) Optional - publisher's letter(s) of acceptance & publishers' acknowledgments of receipt: this is for any publications that are submitted/accepted on your complete list of publications and/or key publications for you to show and prove where they are in the publication process.
